

Excerpt from The New Era in Russia The following criticisms have already been received on this work, and we ask that you give it a careful reading and do what you can to give it a wide circulation. My Dear Sir: I did not acknowledge the receipt of your book, A New Era in Russia, until I was able, in the hurry of the session, to read it, which I have done with great pleasure and satisfaction. I confess that your book gives me new ideas upon the subject, and presents the question of banishment to Siberia in a very different light from what I had gathered from other sources. Dear Sir: Please accept my thanks for the copy of The New Era in Russia which you sent me. I have read your book with a great deal of interest and pleasure. I have been in Russia during the past twelve years several times. I have met many prominent men, and discussed with them the political position of Russia in relation to her own people and outside nations and people. I thank you again for the copy of your book, which will serve the people of this country and Russia well. I beg to say that I believe and have faith in Russia and her people.
